I can't express enough how grateful I am to the authors for writing this much needed book. Ph.D. ABDs have lots of stress in their life with the dissertation and the oral defense. This well written compilation of new psychologists' experiences in the 'real job market' comes as a breath of much needed fresh air during stressful times. Very informative and interesting reading for all graduate students in Psychology.

With the diverse array of career opportunities for psychologists--ranging from academics and practice, to business and industry--this book offers a wide-ranging career guide for graduate and postdoctoral students, as well as interns and new psychologists, seeking employment opportunities in the field of psychology and beyond.

About the Author Robert D. Morgan is Assistant Professor of Psychology at Texas Tech University. Tara L. Kuther is Associate Professor of Psychology at Western Connecticut State University. Corey J. Habben is a Clinical Psychologist at Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington, D.C.
