For All Women - A Must!!!By Kerry Mills, Co-Author of I Care: A Handbook for Care Partners of People with DementiaThis book is an easy read for all women. Being young and actually having started saving early, this book was a great encouragement and reminder to keep saving. Donna has addressed the more difficult issues of women who are older and needing to save. She gives such practical tips that each of us can put into practice. She knows her audience well - women! She describes our reservations, fears and the reasons we become less rational when emotions take over in regard to money and how to overcome this. Great job bringing this book to the market Donna, and thank you! 3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. This book erases women's guilt and insecurities about money! ...By Lois Sullivan-Taylor This book erases women's guilt and insecurities about money! It's resourceful and pragmatic for every age and every walk of life! I'm giving it as a Christmas gift to all the women in my Book Club so we can turn the Book Club into a SISTERS Club! In this inspiring book, Donna Phelan takes a new and refreshing approach to retirement planning for women. Told from the perspective of the four Strong sisters - one married, one divorced, one widowed and one who never married - this is the powerful story of each sister's journey on the road to retirement success. This insightful book relates how each sister's circumstances influenced the path she would take in her own retirement planning, and the lessons each needed to learn in order to succeed. As a seasoned professional on the front lines of some of the world's largest and most respected investment firms, helping people plan for retirement is Donna's job. She has spent the past two decades lecturing, writing, and working closely with her clients as they manage their investments and plan for the future. She knows that retirement planning can be scary in today's uncertain world, and that women face many unique financial challenges that their male counterparts do not. Donna is passionate about showing women how to create their own financial security and retire well - speaking in language that is easy to understand and follow. Innovative and encouraging, this book provides effective strategies for women who feel they are behind in saving for retirement. Donna demonstrates how to establish income for life by setting up SISTERS: Stackable Income Streams To Empower Retirement Security. In seven simple steps, Donna guides her readers through creating an investment portfolio, managing credit, building a profitable business, and even joining with other women to create SISTERS Clubs. WOMEN, MONEY PROSPERITY: A SISTER'S PERSPECTIVE ON HOW TO RETIRE WELL removes the fear and uncertainty from retirement planning, empowering women to live out their golden years with dignity, confidence, security and peace of mind.
